

ABSTRACT

A supplemental shelf for use in a vehicle-mounted cleaning system includes at least one perimeter member, at least one front mounting member configured to at least partially secure the supplemental shelf with respect to a water management system in a first direction, and at least one rear mounting member configured to cooperate with the front mounting member to at least partially secure the supplemental shelf in a second direction orthogonal to the first direction.